As you read this, Spring will literally be just a few weeks away. However, when writing this, it was 10 degrees and snowing. The seasons are changing once again; just like they do every four months. Today, though, is different. Maybe it is different because I was at a funeral today. Looking at some people that I did not know and seeing them entering a new season of their life.

Each day we wake up; we may be entering into a new season of our life. We do not know for sure. But one thing for sure, we need to be prepared.

Are you prepared for the next the season of life that is coming your way? Job experienced a new season in life one day. He lost all his children, all his livestock, and almost all of his servants, and he, himself, got sick. But he was prepared. He was prepared because he loved God. He did not listen to his friends or wife when they told him to give up. He remained faithful to God. Then God pulled him out of it and restored his life and started a new, better season in his life.

That is why we should always spend time with God every day. The time we spend alone with God is time that God uses to ready us for the next season. No matter how big or small.

God's word in scripture form can remind us that Jesus, not man, is in control. And that is how we stay equipped for any season that would happen to come along.

Susan and I love you all and we will see you in the next season.

Pastor John
